

CHURCH BURIALS CAN BE BURNED.

Congregationalists Respond
Liberal to Appeals by Dr. McLeod.

DEBT OF $34,000 RAISED.

Ten Thousand Dollars of Which Was Subscribed During the Service Yesterday Morning.

A debt of $34,000 was raised from the Clinton Avenue Congregational Church, Brooklyn, yesterday. Thirty thousand dollars was in cash and the balance the various members of the church gave in pledge. A mortgage, which was made out originally for $50,000, will probably be burned at a special jubilee service to be held in the church next Thursday.

The service held yesterday was the most remarkable ever held in this historic church. Standing room was at a premium. The pastor, the Rev. Dr. T. R. McLeod, preached a sermon, in which he referred to the growth of the church and the struggles of the flock, which now finds itself, after fifty years, free of debt.

The Finance Committee hustled about among the church members last week and secured pledges, checks and cash for nearly $25,000. The pastor read these from the pulpit, then announced that there was still $10,000 to be raised to wipe out the $34,000 of indebtedness. Inspired by the sermon, first one and another got up in all parts of the church and offered to give from $50 to $500 to help wipe out the debt.

The fifty-year work of the Clinton Avenue Church will be commemorated by special jubilee services on Wednesday night. There will be addresses by the Rev. Dr. McLeod, the Rev. R. R. Meredith and Dr. McLeod. Dr. Storrs was the secretary at the meeting fifty years ago. He has followed his career very closely.

The Clinton Avenue Congregational Church is a handsome brick structure, standing at the corner of Clinton and Lafayette avenues. It was remodeled several years ago, when the $50,000 mortgage was placed on the property.

The main church has two chapels, one at Wiloughby and Grand avenues, and another at Atlantic and Grand avenues. Both are free of debt.

The Rev. Samuel N. King is pastor of the chapel at Wiloughby and Grand avenues. The Rev. William A. Kirkwood has charge of that on Atlantic avenue. Both congregations will join in the jubilee exercises of the mother church Wednesday night.

DOG AND MAN LOCKED UP.
Slater Made a General Nuisance of Himself Before Being Landed in the Station House.

William Slater, of No. 14 Erasmus street, and who is called the king of the "Velvet gang," of Flatbush, was arrested yesterday morning for intoxication. When he appears this morning before Justice Steers, in the Flatbush Police Court, Policeman Donnelly, of the Grant street station, will probably make a more serious charge.

Slater boarded a Flatbush Avenue car about 3:30 o'clock yesterday at the main entrance to Prospect Park. He was with a companion and they had a big dog with them. Slater had the dog on his back and allowed the dog to be placed on the front platform. Slater refused to pay the fare, later got very abusive and insisted on being taken to the car.

When Malbone street was reached, the conductor and two motormen were in the car. Slater refused to pay the fare and finally set the bulldog on them. The dog tore the trousers of one of the men. After the car had started Slater was again set on by Slater. Slater refused to pay the fare and was taken to the station house and the dog was taken to the pound.

The patrol wagon took Slater to the station house and he and the bulldog were locked up in the cell together.

BOSSERT DENIES THE RUMOR.
Nassau Railroad People Have Not Made an Offer for His Property.

The Nassau Railroad Company, of Brooklyn, has for some time been looking for a favorable site in Williamsburg upon which to erect a power house for that part of Brooklyn. Reports have been in circulation for some time that negotiations were in progress for the purchase of the extensive Looe house, situated on the corner of the property at Johnson and Union avenues. It was stated that on account of the cramped nature of the mill Mr. Bossert had agreed to sell and remove the mill to his other plant on Newtown Creek. It was said that the Johnson avenue property would be sold for $25,000.

When Mr. Bossert was spoken to in reference to the matter yesterday afternoon he denied that the Nassau Company wanted to buy the property. He said that the property rose from the fact that he intended extending his business on the creek side, and for that reason had bought about forty acres of land upon which additional factories will be built.

MYSTERY IN THIS DEATH.
Unknown Man, Arrested for Intoxication, Dies in the City Hospital.

The body of an unknown man lies in the Morgue in Brooklyn. He was arrested on the Bridge, near the Brooklyn entrance, Saturday afternoon, and was too much intoxicated to speak. He was taken to the Bridge police station, but there he became unconscious. He was removed to the City Hospital, where he lay in a stupor all Saturday night and yesterday morning. He died about noon yesterday.

The man was about fifty years old, had dark hair, and he wore a dark mustache. When arrested he had on a suit of dark, mixed gray, congress gaiters and a soft felt hat. In his pockets were ten cents and a piece of paper which he had placed in a pair of trousers at Simpson's pawn shop for $1 on Saturday morning. Herkley was the name on the ticket.

Up to a late hour last night no one had called to identify the body, and the police were unable to find his friends.

MORE SCORCHERS ARRESTED.
Parkville Police Make Their Usual Sunday Haul.

The police of the Parkville Precinct yesterday afternoon arrested the following cyclists for searching on the Cycle Path of the Ocean Parkway: Thomas B. Craft, No. 450 Van Buren street; John Hayes, No. 943 Wiloughby avenue; Walter Stanley, No. 514 Park avenue; Charles Sargent, No. 475 Ninth avenue; Edward Rose, No. 417 Eleventh street; George Groll, No. 734 Wiloughby avenue; and Henry and John Speck, No. 221 Prospect avenue.

They will be arraigned before Justice Steers this morning in the Flatbush Police Court.

GRASSLANDS OF THE GRAVESEND LANDS.

No One in Authority Seems to Know Where or
What They Are.

MAY SOON BE AUCTIONED.

In Charge of a Commission
Which Seems to Be Responsible to Nobody.

Some mystery hangs behind a resolution introduced at the last meeting of the Brooklyn Board of Aldermen, affecting the common lands of the old town of Gravesend and present Thirty-first Ward of the city. Alderman Adam Leich, of the Twenty-third Ward, stood sponsor for the resolution. He introduced it among others, and it was adopted.

The resolution is simple enough. It directs the Corporation Counsel to inform the Board of Aldermen of the exact situation and extent of the town or common lands that went into the possession of Brooklyn with the annexation of the county towns, namely, Flatlands, Flatbush, New Utrecht and Gravesend. It also directs the counsel to inform the board as to who had the power to sell the lands.

With the resolution was a statement to the effect that the Mayor, Comptroller and Auditor were selling the land to suit themselves, and ignoring the Board of Aldermen.

Leich Couldn't Tell Much.

Alderman Leich, who introduced the resolution, had this to say about it when a reporter for the Journal questioned him: "Why, I really know nothing about the matter. A gentleman came to me and asked me to present it, and I did. I don't know the man's name, although I have met him quite often. I have heard of him, but have forgotten it. I think he is a lawyer. I have seen him in the Corporation Counsel's office very frequently. He told me he was trying to get the land sold, but he was unable to do so. That is all I know about the matter. The Corporation Counsel is the one to give you all the information you want."

Assistant Corporation Counsel Michael Furst generally handles real estate matters for Brooklyn's Department of Law, but the matter of land in the annexed common lands, had been unable to do so. That is all I know about the matter. The Corporation Counsel is the one to give you all the information you want."

Mr. Mudge, when asked about the common lands, said:

"The town of Gravesend is the only one which is affected by that resolution. Four questions are involved by Section No. 2 of this act of the Legislature relating to the common land fund of Gravesend. The section referred to is part of a legislative enactment, appointing the Mayor, Comptroller and Supervisor of the old town of Gravesend a commission to look after the common land fund. The Commission is to report to the Board of Aldermen. It may sell the land or any part thereof at such times as it shall itself determine. It may sell it by public auction or private sale. It is directed seemingly to report to no one."

Commission Must Decide It.

"That settles the question of ignoring the Board of Aldermen," said Mr. Mudge. "The Aldermen have no control at all over the matter. It rests entirely with the Commission. William V. B. Bennett is the member of that Commission, as he was Supervisor of the town."

"How many acres of this town land are there?" Mr. Mudge was asked.

"I don't know. We are preparing a schedule which will contain all information in relation to the property. I have not any idea of the amount of property or the value. I only know that there is one lot of fifteen acres, with a hotel upon it."

The schedule is being made up by the Commission. What land there is will probably be sold at public auction before January 1."

"Is there any way in which I can get more information about this?"

"No," Mr. Mudge said. "The law provides that the proceeds of all sales of common land shall be used for the improvement of the ward, which is to be used for the improvement of the ward. In the Auditor's office it was learned that the September 27, 1897, to the credit of the common lands fund was $132,000, and $35,000 in bonds and mortgages. This included $31,000 which the Commission received from the Edison Company for McKane's old electric light plant, erected on Coney Island at a cost of more than $100,000."

NOT A FRIEND OF THE WORLD.

Sad Plight of Little Thomas Day, Who Lies in a Hospital.

John Wagner, of No. 130 Forest street, Williamsburg, yesterday informed the police of the Hamburg Avenue station that a ten-year-old boy, Thomas Day, whom he picked up in the street on Friday, had become seriously ill.

Wagner said that he met the boy while on his way home from work and that the boy had told him he was cold and hungry. Wagner questioned him and Day stated that his parents were dead and that his aunt and uncle, with whom he had lived, had died away, probably with the intention of causing him to die.

The police sent an ambulance to Wagner's home and the boy was taken to St. Catherine's Hospital, where it was found his illness was due to lack of proper nourishment. Last night it was said at the hospital that the boy is improving.

PRIZES WORTH DRAWING FOR.

By Members of Battalion B, of the Women's Building Association.

The members of Battalion B, of the Visitation Women's Club Building Association, will hold an entertainment and reception in Prospect Hall, Prospect and Fifth avenues, next Friday evening. After the entertainment the distribution of prizes for their "drawing" will take place. The prizes include twenty-five and include a trip to Niagara Falls, a Hendrickson trip to Washington for the holidays, a bicycle, two valuable building lots, etc., etc. This drawing will be held in December, and the members hope for a grand rally of their friends.

Polytechnic Institute.

A very important change in the government of the institute has taken place. Students are now required to be present at all lectures and recitations. Previous to this change the sophomores and freshmen had been excused. The change, it is hoped, will prove a success, as it now gives the institute with full college powers and privileges.

The temporary trustees of the institute are: Towel, 90, president; Schmitt, 90, secretary; and the committee: Patton, 90; Mason, 100; Burr, 100.

A French literary society was formed last Wednesday afternoon.

Manager Huntington has announced the following games for the basketball team: December 18, at Madison Square Garden, with Central M. C. A. The first game will be played in the Y. M. C. A. gymnasium, and the last two in Polytechnic.

"Jimmie Dunn," 94, now amateur basketball player of the world, will assume a position as a private secretary to Judge Cady.

Professor Brainerd Kellogg is to have charge of the Debating Society and regular monthly debates will be held. The first debate will be on the subject that Canada should be annexed to the United States. Positive and negative sides are to be taken and Kellogg and Wyckoff the negative.

The Polytechnic Preparatory School will play the Pratt football team at Eastern Park November 27.

Professor Northrop, of the department of German, began his series of lectures on Friday. They are illustrated with stereoscopic views.

He Is the Dean of Brooklyn's Postmen.

JOHNSON C. HULL, the dean of Brooklyn letter carriers, is wearing six stripes on the grey sleeve of his uniform coat. Mr. Hull, besides being the oldest, is one of the most vigorous men in the Brooklyn department. He is a man of splendid build, having nearly six feet of length and weighing within a few pounds of 200. Although his long beard is gray, he is full of energy, and his route, the busiest part of Fulton street, is the heaviest in the Brooklyn postal system. He entered the service in 1863, after having served in the old Volunteer Fire Department of New York, and the Union Army.

MANY LOANS ON THEIR FURNITURE. NO DELEGATE FOR EASTERN DISTRICT.

Bennett and His Wife Mortgaged Their Goods Once Too Often.

TRACED TO SOUTHOLD, L. I. RESIDENTS ARE INDIGNANT.

After a Long Hunt the Detectives And They Will Make Strenuous Efforts to Remedy This Apparent Injustice.

Mary Lavinia Bennett, a gray, bent old woman, who, however, states she is but forty-four years old, with her husband, who gave his age as fifty-two years, were locked up in the Adams Street Police Station, Brooklyn, last night. They are charged with grand larceny for having defrauded several loan associations in Brooklyn.

The couple were arrested at Southold, L. I., at the home of a relative, a wealthy farmer, yesterday afternoon, by Deputy Sheriff Max D. Teale and Detective Sergeant Connors, of the Brooklyn Central Office. The police declare that the prisoners have led them a merry chase through Long Island.

The husband, Charles E. Bennett, is a well-dressed, active looking man, and the police say he has earned good money as a driver for a large dry goods house in New York.

The couple, it is alleged, bought furniture amounting to $400 from J. Michaels, on Smith street, Brooklyn, about a year ago. He sold the goods on the installment plan, taking a first mortgage on the property. The Bennetts secured a loan on the furniture from the People's Loan Company, in the Arbuthe building, and gave a mortgage. They moved out almost immediately, it is said, and when they settled down in their new quarters mortgaged again, to the Brooklyn Loan Company, at Fulton street and Red Hook lane.

The Bennetts had lived there last, but they had moved away with the much mortgaged furniture a few days before the police came to the house. They were traced to Hempstead, L. I., and from there to Southold.

The Bennetts declined to give the names of the man with whom they were living there. The prisoners will be arraigned in the Adams Street Court today.

WEDDING GUESTS IN A FIGHT.

Morris McCarthy Accused of Having Stabbed Thomas O'Malley.

Justice Kramer, in the Lee Avenue Police Court, Williamsburg, yesterday, remanded for a hearing to-day on the charge of assault Morris McCarthy, a leather finisher, forty years old, of No. 704 Wythe avenue, who was accused of stabbing Thomas O'Malley, of No. 128 Wythe avenue.

Both men attended the wedding of Mr. and Mrs. John Holley, at No. 704 Wythe avenue. They got talking on politics and their arguments became so energetic that Holley requested the pair to settle it outside and not among the wedding guests.

The disputants repaired to the sidewalk, where they came to blows. It is alleged that McCarthy drew a knife and stabbed O'Malley in the right side and left leg, inflicting wounds which necessitated his removal to the Eastern District Hospital. When McCarthy was arraigned in court he declared that O'Malley was the aggressor.

Fatal Fall from a Ladder.
Mrs. Bridget Callahan died in the Eastern District Hospital, Williamsburg, yesterday of injuries she received on Saturday night by falling from a roof ladder. She was seventy years old and lived at No. 90 Kent avenue. She started up the ladder to fasten the shutter, and when half way up she missed her footing and fell. She struck on her head, and sustained a compound fracture of the skull. She was unconscious when she died.

Nettie Hartman Missing.
Nettie Hartman, the fifteen-year-old daughter of William Hartman, of No. 1004 Hill street, Williamsburg, has been missing since Saturday evening, and yesterday her father reported her disappearance to the Third Avenue Police station. Hartman is the father of the missing girl. He said he was positive that some serious accident had happened to his child and asked that a general alarm be sent out for her.

There are 3,122 teachers and principals and 2,577 classes. The number of children refused admission owing to lack of accommodation is 1,177. This is in addition to those who have been provided with half sessions.

Whitestone Will Advocate Rise in Protest.

WHITESTONE WILL ADVOCATE RISE IN PROTEST. THE CYCLE PATH.

Site Chosen for the New Associated Cycle Clubs to Discuss the Journal's Bridge Plan.

CHEAPER LAND ELSEWHERE AT TO-NIGHT'S MEETING.

Editor Gilroy Denounces the Whole Transaction as "Funny Work."

The citizens of Whitestone are up in arms against the members of the local School Board. For some unknown reason, the Board decided last week to purchase an acre of land on the outskirts of the village as the site for the erection of a new schoolhouse. This land is owned by Captain I. J. Merritt, the president of the Merritt-Chapman Wrecking Company, and up to the present time it was considered practically worthless. The lots comprising this acre have been on the market for several years at less than $300 a lot. The School Board will pay $600 each for them, and behind this lies a tale.

Captain Merritt is the wealthiest taxpayer in Whitestone. His counsel is Clifton B. Roe, who is also counsel for the School Board and the Village Trustees. Captain Merritt's real estate agent is Edwin Roe, a brother of the lawyer. Four of the members of the School Board are members of the Village Improvement Association, of which Captain Roe is counsel. When the subject of erecting a new schoolhouse was first projected land was offered by the village at $200 a lot. The schoolhouse was to be situated on a swampy region, was rejected. John T. Gilroy, the editor of the Whitestone Herald, is shouting for an investigation.

"It was through the efforts of Mr. Gilroy that the majority of the School Board were elected, and he claims they now betrayed the interests of the people."

Denounced by Mr. Gilroy.
"The reorganized School Board," Mr. Gilroy said yesterday, "has started to secure a new school house with a great show of pomp and declaration, but it wants to do well by the village there runs a strong current of what looks like very funny work."

"The Board starts out with the proposition that the village needs a new school house and that the south side of the village is the best place for it. At the meeting held on Tuesday night only two proposals were submitted, both of them in a low and unhealthy section and far from the center of the south side population."

"A site at Ninth avenue and Fourteenth street is offered at $200 per lot. Land may be had on lots across the street for less than half that price, but the Board waves the offer aside with trivial excuses."

"Another plot on Seventh avenue and Fourteenth street, in dark, soggy soil, is offered at $200 per lot. The Board waves the offer aside with trivial excuses."

"If any one of the present trustees entertains the hope that he will be selected for this office he had better look out for himself. The fact that he will encounter the determined opposition of the ever increasing army of cyclists. The trustees propose to maintain the distance of one hundred feet. How the riders are to get on these trolley tracks when the cars are running as close together as this place is, is a matter of interest, but unexplained proposition."

Mayors Strong and Wurster have been invited to attend the meeting. The committee of five appointed by the New York City Council of the League of American Wheelmen appointed specially to look into the matter of the proposed schoolhouse, and vigorous efforts will be made to institute active measures to stop the project."

It is quite true that the expense of the new school will be borne by the entire city, but must we insist that the school be planted in low, boggy land? Had we the power to take the matter into our own hands, the Board of Education will not do better for us? They cannot go worse."

The members of the School Board say that the plan is to build a short time before January 1 to secure sufficient school room for the children, and they do not think they will defeat the measure because of the difference of "a few thousand dollars" in the cost of the site.

Several property holders who have heartily favored the erection of a new school house, but whose power is taken from them by the authorities of the Greater New York told a Journal reporter that they would vote and vote against the plan laid down by the trustees. One man said:

"So, I am concerned I am willing to wait until the city builds it. It will not cost any more than. I doubt that it will cost as much, and as for the site, I am sure a better one will be chosen. If all the other electors are like myself they will resist this attempt to force upon them a thing that they do not want, just to put a few thousand dollars in the way of a few individuals. The School Trustees may be held responsible for the defeat of the election which I am sure will occur unless another plan is taken from the city."

An election will be held by the taxpayers December 10 to pass upon the appropriation for the purchase of the site. Editor Gilroy says that unless the project is defeated steps will be taken to stop the purchase.

Assaulted a Mounted Policeman.
John Courtney, who gave his address as No. 730 Leonard street, was arrested yesterday afternoon on Clarkson street by Mounted Policeman Patrick J. Casey for having imbibed too freely. He was abusive, and when the policeman told him he would have to be more quiet Courtney attempted to pull the policeman off his horse, tearing his uniform.

Surprised "Pharaoh's Daughter."
Professor Carrington's latest and best illusion, entitled "Rock of Ages and Birth of Roses," is now on exhibition from 9 a. m. to 9 p. m. daily in the Lieberman arcade. The exhibition is free to all, but children must be accompanied by their parents.

ITALIAN EDITOR ACCUSED.
Held in $500 Bail on a Charge of Libel Preferred by Banker Lord.

Court Officer Fagin broke in the door of the printing office at No. 202 Bridge street, Brooklyn, on Saturday night and arrested Donato Pio Amoroso, the editor of the Italian paper, La Forza Gandine. He had a warrant for the editor, charging him with libel.

Giovanni Lord, a banker, of No. 62 Mulberry street, New York, and who lives at No. 20 First place, Brooklyn, is the complainant against Amoroso. The banker takes exception to an article which appeared in Amoroso's paper on November 10, in which the banker is denounced as a cheat and swindler, blackleg and robber.

Amoroso pleaded not guilty, yesterday, and Justice Brenner set his trial for next Thursday. Bail was fixed at $500.

DENOUNCED CUBAN OUTRAGES.

Rev. Cortland Myers Took for His Text the Seventh Commandment.

The Rev. Cortland Myers preached in the Baptist Temple last evening on the seventh commandment. He said, in part: "This commandment is God's sentinel upon the walls of human society. It stands guard before the home and before the marriage altar. The transgression of this divine law is so hidden that there is no appreciation of its tremendous evil effects in our modern life. It is one of the deadliest enemies working of the foundation of everything sacred and secure."

The most barbarous part of all this diabolism of Weyler and his brutal followers in Cuba will suffer the penalty of the Cuban outrages and their inhumanity toward the wives and daughters of Cuban patriots. The tear-stained face of one of these fathers and husbands can never be forgotten by me as he told me the sad, heart-rending story of the unspeakable cruelty practiced upon his loved one. Spain will suffer the penalty of this diabolism, but none greater than this. God punish us for allowing this fearful devastation to go on."

BROKE THE SUNDAY LAW.

Two Bicycle Manufacturers Arrested for Carrying on Their Business on the Sabbath.

Policeman Hillings, of the Stagg street station, Williamsburg, arrested two brothers, Michael and Abram Caplin, of No. 82 Leonard street, yesterday, on the charge of violating the Sunday law. The brothers carry on a bicycle business every day, Sunday included, and the noise they made annoyed neighbors to such an extent that the policeman a week ago warned the brothers that they must stop.

The Caplins as usual went to work yesterday morning. Hillings was on post, and he arrested the brothers. When they were arraigned in the Ewen Street Police Court they pleaded not guilty, and Justice Lemon adjourned the hearing until to-day.

Training School for Teachers.

The Faculty and Elective Association are not seeming at all alarmed at the proposed attack of the increase of the salaries, firmly believing that in a very short time their claims will be recognized.

The graduating class are working hard under the impression that the Board of Education, of the New York City, is to be, will rate them by merit on the eligible lists.

After the organization of the Board of Education for the City of New York, the coming fall, at Brooklyn the Training School and the High School of Brooklyn will be, it is believed, come more directly under the jurisdiction of the city's superintendent than any of the other schools.

The next lecture of the Fall and Winter series will be given on Friday at 2 o'clock. The subject is India. The slides to be shown in the stereoscope have been prepared expressly for this lecture.
